The Appalachian Mountain Club’s
Essential Eligibility Criteria

INTRODUCTION

The Appalachian Mountain Club promotes the protection, enjoyment, and understanding of the mountains, forests, waters, and trails of the Appalachian region. We believe these resources have intrinsic worth and also provide recreational opportunities, spiritual renewal, and ecological and economic health for the region. Because successful conservation depends on active engagement with the outdoors, we encourage people to experience, learn about, and appreciate the natural world.

Participant safety and health are the top priority on all AMC activities. To minimize risk to a group participating in an AMC program, each individual must take responsibility for himself or herself, must participate within his or her own limits, and must contribute positively to the health and well-being of other participants and to the group as a whole.

The AMC values diversity – including persons with diverse abilities – in its programs. While we do not specialize in integrating persons with disabilities onto activities we sponsor, we encourage people of all abilities to consider participating in AMC activities. The AMC’s Essential Eligibility Criteria (EEC) is a list of the physical and cognitive requirements of activities sponsored by the AMC. The AMC’s EEC are intended to be a resource for anyone considering participating in an AMC-sponsored activity, and are not intended to be exclusionary.

With approximately 8000 activities offered annually by the AMC, individual activity requirements can vary greatly. Activity descriptions may contain additional or more specific requirements. If you have concerns about your ability to meet certain criteria, please speak with the trip organizer to determine if reasonable accommodations can be made. If you have general questions about the AMC’s EEC, or if you have concerns about the implementation of the EEC, please contact the Outdoor Leadership Department at leadership@outdoors.org.

TERMS AND DEFINITIONS

Assistance of Trained Aides

In some circumstances outlined in the EEC, participants may be eligible to participate on an AMC activity if they can meet an essential eligibility criterion with the assistance of a trained aide. Examples of trained aides include service animals, ASL translators, and individuals trained to assist a participant with physical, emotional, or communication requirements. In order for minors to meet the EEC, a parent, guardian or responsible adult who is known to the minor may act as an aide. If a participant requires a trained aide to meet any of the EEC, the participant or aide must notify the trip organizer beforehand, except in cases when an adult is accompanying a minor. The trained aide must meet the physical and cognitive requirements as outlined in the AMC’s EEC.

Activities vs. Outings
The AMC uses the term ‘activity’ to describe any outing, trip, or event sponsored by the organization. One type of activity the AMC sponsors – outings – are defined as staying within ½ mile of a road or full-service facility and requiring no physical or technical abilities other than basic mobility indoors and outdoors. There are specific essential eligibility criteria that apply only to outings (section I). All other activities are subject to the general EEC for activities (section II). Some activities, such as backpacking, climbing, and bicycling, have additional essential eligibility criteria (sections III – IX). Finally, individual activity and course descriptions may contain additional or more specific requirements.

Criteria with an Asterisk (*)
Throughout this document, an asterisk (*) is used to denote that individual activities may have a more challenging or more specific requirement than indicated in the criterion with the asterisk. Please refer to program materials or course descriptions or speak with the trip organizer if you have concerns or if you would like more detailed information.
